

Vikrant Pachnanda is an Advocate-on-Record before the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India and a Partner with Fox & Mandal, one of India's oldest and premier law firms. He pursued his B.A. LL.B (Hons.) from Gujarat National Law University, Gandhinagar (GNLU), LLM from Cornell Law School and Advanced LLM in Air & Space Law from the International Institute of Air & Space Law at Leiden University in the Netherlands. Vikrant advises stakeholders in the aviation industry on several aviation related issues such as aviation security law, consumer protection issues and policy related issues amongst others. He has authored a book entitled "A Guide to India's Aviation Law" published by Thomson Reuters as well as edited a book entitled "Aircraft Leasing and Financing" published by Bloomsbury. He presently judges both the National and International Rounds of the Leiden-Sarin International Air Law Moot, which is held annually and is the one of the only moot court competitions in the field of air law in the world and has presented papers at various international and national aviation law conferences. Vikrant is involved academically in his capacity as Resource Person at the GNLU Academy of Air and Space Law and also teaches aviation law at the Adani Institute of Infrastructure Management apart from having given guest lectures on this subject at other law schools.